About Me

I am currently serving as a Lecturer in the Department of Statistics and Computer Science at the University of Peradeniya. I obtained my BSc. (Honours) degree in Computer Science from the University of Peradeniya, where I pursued my undergraduate studies from 2017 to 2021. I began my academic career in 2022 as a Temporary Lecturer in the Department of Statistics and Computer Science. My academic and research interests primarily focus on the Internet of Things (IoT) and Machine Learning. I am particularly enthusiastic about conducting multidisciplinary research, aiming to enhance knowledge by integrating Computer Science with other scientific and applied domains.

Passionate about leveraging technology for environmental sustainability, with expertise in IoT and robotics. Beyond academia, I have a keen interest in environmental photography. Dedicated to mentoring and facilitating learning in the field of Computer Science. Always exploring new innovations in technology.
